

RED JADE[®]

Sensory Software Suite

Tomorrow's Technology Today: RedJade[®] is developed with today's bleeding edge web technology. More importantly, as technology advances, so does the application. Only RedJade is specifically built to grow as technology grows, guaranteeing and preserving your investment.

Save Time: RedJade is not only the most advanced sensory application on the market today, but it is the most intuitive as well. Our easy to use interface allows you to be proficient in RedJade without spending hours learning a new system. Login and go, only with RedJade.

Centralize Your Data: Regardless of where in the world (or the number of locations in the world) you conduct testing, all your data resides in one database. Access, combine, analyze, and share your data from one location. No need to cut, paste, merge, or otherwise jeopardize the integrity of your data.

Control & Collaborate: Create projects, surveys, and analyses in RedJade and share it. You can create a project, author a survey for that project, then share that information with your partners around the globe and have them collect the data...but you maintain complete control of the entire process!

Multiple Language Support: Create one survey and deploy it in any language. More importantly, all of your data resides in one data set.

LiveResults™: View results as they happen! Imagine seeing results, by demographic, as your consumers answer each question. That's truly live results.

Pricing: RedJade ranges from $5,000 to $35,000. For all academic professionals and current students, RedJade is FREE. There are no hidden costs or fees. Please visit <http://redjade.net/pricing.html> for detailed corporate pricing.

www.redjade.net

For more information contact Steve Willis at +1 650 412 2038 or swillis@redjade.net